Dear Friend! Thank you very much for your kind information in regard to the Mahdî books. I have been delaying answer, in uncertainty whether to ask you to send that book of yours (as you so kindly offered to do), or not. But now my pupil has been turned aside, for a time, from his investigations in regard to the Mahdî, and therefore will not need the writing at present. When he returns to the subject, I shall be glad to send for the book.

I have given your message of greeting to the friends here. They all (and I especially) remember your visit here with great pleasure.

Sincerely yours,

New Haven, Feb. 21. C.C. Torrey
