Budapest, the 17.VI.1966.

Dear Maria Emília Reis!

Thank you for your letter of the 15.apr., and also for the honorarium, that I received without any trouble. I am very pleased to hear that the first volume of my essays is already out of print, and I am looking forward to the second edition. When ~~a~~ issued, please, send me 2 copies, and one other to ARTIJUS. It will be enough to go on with.

Concerning your letter written to ARTIJUS, I have no objections against the translation of my essay "Art libre ou art dirigé" but please, make a remark -- in the preface or in notes --, that the essay was written and published in 1947 (that mean in the times of Rákosi). I agree also with the selection and translation of some essays out of the italian edition "Il marxismo e la critica marxista", but please let me know your proposition, which essays you are intended to get translated.

I agree also to apply the former conditions.

Sincerely yours

(Georg Lukács)
