

Dear Sir,

Though having the pleasure of knowing you since 1914, I wished to meet you <sup>recently</sup> concerning a Persian poem of Sarmad; but I had not your address; Dr. Regl Soudor, whom I met today gave your address. You are asleep. I shall call in an hour, and am leaving my books in my leather case.

Perhaps you remember meeting me when <sup>W. L. G.</sup> was here in 1914.

Yours faithfully,

سید احمد گل شیرازی

Gilg