Mr. D. B. Macdonald, M. A.
Professor in the Theological Seminary

Budapest March 12th 1911

Dear Macdonald! I got your letter accompanying the "Nation" - number where I read your suggestive review of Bronner's.
But to send him the number, would be on my part a very equivocal appearance.
I do not know, which are your "Anhaltspunkte" to judge the attitude of Bronner against you.
But I do not think him having an anti-jewish feeling. ~~Have~~ ^{are} you convinced of the contrary?
Pray, give me an orientation - that question.

You write me an english translation of my "Vorlesungen" being in preparation. I myself did not hear anything of such a scheme, although I would be very satisfied if the book could appear in an english garb. But - to repeat - nobody asked me for permission to translate the book. I can ~~then~~ ^{then} assure you, that - I am sorry to say - the translation - rumour has no foundation at all. The book is not very remarked in the critical reviews. To judge after the appearances it makes a failure. When will your new book leave the press?

Yours truly
Goldziher
