Dear friend! Thousand thanks for your good wishes and the charming gifts accompanying them. We will read the interesting Gurles with thankful remembrance to you.

I did write to Prof. Dugold regarding the latitude to be accorded to you ~~for~~ delivering the article; he answered me that he has no objection against it. Allow me in the same line, to express my opinion, that it would be better to write the introducing lines not in Arabic but in clear English. In my view, at least, it shows always a bit of humorous intension, if we write for occidental men in an oriental language, be it as classic as possible. We can do it for private use, but not in public emanations of thought.

It is a very lucky idea of Hastings to ^{have} choiced you as his Islamic editor. You must write the general Islam-article. ^{Did} Hastings send to you the remarks I made to his Islamic index? With thousand compliments to you both

30.XII 1904

Yours very faithfully
