Dear Professor Goldziker,

I hope you will pardon my extreme rudeness in not having acknowledged your kind remittance of 300 crowns before. The truth is that I had my pen in hand more than once to write you when I was interrupted by a visit; and I had hoped to be able to thank you in person last Tuesday.

As you mentioned something about coming one evening, I am writing to tell you that, with the exception of Friday, I am home every evening in the week after 6 p.m.

With renewed thanks
and kind regards

I remain

Yours sincerely,

Arthur - B. Golland
