

72.6
ADAM & CHARLES BLACK

Telegrams
BIBLOS, LONDON

SOHO SQUARE

LONDON, W.

17th May, 1897

My dear Prof. Goldziker,

Many thanks for

Yours of the 15th, received here this morning. I entirely concur in your view that any new edition of Kindship ought, so far as the text is concerned, to reproduce the work <sup>exactly</sup> as it came from Smith, with any such additions or corrections as we have in his own handwriting. The editorial additions and remarks in the Notes and Illustrations could be marked by square brackets.

Should a new edition be determined on, there will be no necessity for having it published before the end of 1848, and it could even be speak of the other matter.

put off, if required, to a later Our friend had at one time date. But of course the publishers the idea of publishing, along would like to have their ar- with kinship, the letters he rangements made with the edi- wrote to the Scotsman newspa-tor at as early a date as possible; per giving an account of So I shall be glad to hear from his journey to Saif. ~~It~~ might you again as soon as you find this be done now, - with perhaps yourself in a position to some further notes?
Yours very truly
John S. Black