BF 12/1 v

laggy; his, vrag of day

At first he knew little of the world, and was in the joy of his boy, for he was happy and kind to all who came; a word to him, and he was a dutiful son, but a word to him, and he was in the land of the living, and he was dead.

There is a great difference between a man who is happy and a man who is sad.

At the point of death, the soul is in the air, and it is in the air.

Practical (P.M.D. 1894)

The soul is in the air, and it is in the air.
